

Important Info

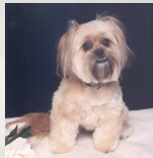

The loss of a loved one is one of the most difficult situations to face in life. This can be especially trying if you are in charge of making the funeral arrangements. Many people think that when arranging a funeral, there is only one decision to make - choosing a funeral home, but, in addition, there are other items to consider.

- When will the funeral be held?
- Who will attend?
- Will the person be buried or cremated?
- Will the ceremony be religious or secular?
- Has a burial or memorial site been reserved or prepaid?
- If not, then at which cemetery will the person be memorialized?
- Will there be a eulogy? Who will deliver it?
- Who will be pallbearers, readers, ushers?
- Who will perform the service?

You may or may not know, but most funeral homes are operated independently of cemeteries. Burial, plot and entombment are not included in the cost of a funeral in most cases. Additionally, if you want to add a headstone, there is extra cost. Our experienced directors will help you in your troubled time. Don't be afraid to ask us questions.

We provide personalized service with commitment and compassion. Our goal is to respond to each family's needs as if they were our own. We are committed to total care from our family to yours.

We offer several kinds of services to meet your needs, from pre-planning, traditional, veteran, cremation, and celebrant.

We believe our work is a "mission of service" and we will count it a privilege to help your family during the most difficult time in your life.

Services Offered

Traditional Services - A service, religious or non-religious in nature, is often held at the funeral home or church. Prior to services, there is usually a visitation period where the family can gather and receive friends. Following the service there is usually a procession to the cemetery where burial or entombment takes place.

Another option is a "graveside service". This is a simple burial service held at the cemetery without a visitation period preceding it.

Cremation is a rapidly growing choice for many families. Our licensed funeral directors can handle every detail of a cremation service, including direct cremations or any type of memorial that a family may choose.

Celebrant - We can provide a meaningful funeral service that is personalized to reflect the personality and life-style of the deceased. We meet with the family prior to the service and listen to memories and stories from their loved one's life. The essence of the service will reflect these remembrances.

Veteran - There is nothing that pays tribute to our deceased veterans more than military honors for those who proudly served our country. Military Honors may include a gun salute, flag presentation, and the playing of "Taps". We can arrange for your family a respectful and fitting tribute to honor your loved one.

Aftercare - Our service to the family does not end with the funeral service. We offer many resources for family members to help deal with the grieving process.

Headstone & Monument Services Available - We can assist you in picking out and obtaining headstones and monuments if you wish. A beautiful way to remember your loved one.

Pre-Planning

There are many reasons to consider pre-planning your funeral. The most important one is that it takes away from your survivors the pressure of making a decision under very difficult circumstances.

Pre-arrangements also let you choose exactly how you want to be memorialized and allows for personal preferences in all aspects of the funeral service.

In years past pre-planning your funeral was considered taboo. However, more and more people are becoming educated about the funeral process. Learning more about what is involved in this event and planning ahead is a major benefit for your loved ones.

Cost is a big factor. The average cost of a funeral is around $7,000. This does not include a cemetery space or a headstone if you will be buried, or the cost of an urn if you choose to be cremated. Remember, there is no rushing or pressure to make a hasty decision in pre-planning a funeral. You have time to review all the options and think about the specific items that you want.

If you prepay for your funeral, be sure to let family members know where to find details of this arrangement.
